Father's Day in England. Read the text.

Father's Day in England is a special day when we celebrate and congratulate our fathers. In England, this holiday is celebrated on the third Sunday of June each year. On this day, children give their fathers gifts and greeting cards. A traditional custom on this day is to have family picnics or barbecues where the whole family can come together and spend time outdoors.

Unlike Mother's Day, however, Father's Day in England is often celebrated more calmly. Many fathers like to spend this time doing their hobbies or just resting. Some prefer to go to a football match or play golf, while others prefer to come to the pub with friends. The main significance of the day is to show your love, support and gratitude to your father. On this day, we can tell him how important his role is in our lives and how much we value him as a father and a person.

Father's Day in England is a real holiday for fathers and we must do everything we can to make this a special day for our fathers.
